

From: Nelson, Jon D (1811) Jon.D.Nelson@jpl.nasa.gov
Subject: RE: Usage of JPL website content
Date: September 17, 2013 at 12:46
To: brunophilipe@me.com

Thank you for contacting JPL regarding your inquiry. Yes, please use whatever you like.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bruno Philipe [mailto:brunophilipe@me.com]
Sent: Friday, September 13, 2013 3:25 PM
To: contactjpl@www.jpl.nasa.gov
Subject: Usage of JPL website content

Hello.

My name is Bruno and I am a Computer Science student in the University of Brasilia, Brazil. I have created a simple page that displays the current distance (but not location) of both voyager spacecrafts from the sun in scale with the planets in the solar system, which is visible in (<http://brunophilipe.com/projects/voyagers>). The page is still in development.

As you can see, I have used a JavaScript file from the JPL website to calculate the current distances and display them on the page. I would like to ask permission to use this file in my website only, while always displaying a link to the JPL website. This page was not shared with anyone, and I have put it up only to send this request.

Thank you very much for your attention and have a nice day!

Respectfully,
Bruno Philipe.